While you are relaxing at home over the three days this weekend, you may like to give this puzzle a go to keep your brain active! It is called Znumbers.

Here are the rules for playing this game.

The boxes are labeled with a number between 1 and 4, and may only be moved by that amount to a free position (marked with an 'X'). Your goal is to move every box once and turn it grey.

Posted by Miss Kelly Jordan on Thursday, May 19th 2011 edit

In 2KM and 2KJ we are always trying to improve our handwriting and typing skills. It is important to have good handwriting and be able to type well on a computer.

We do lots of different types of writing activities in our class and we always try to do our neatest writing. Once a week we do a special handwriting lesson. We focus on a different letter each week and we need to remember the size, shape, direction and formation of the letters. We use Victorian Modern Cursive handwriting. Here is a sample of what it looks like:

Rosa Prieto from the Spanish Embassy visits our school!

May 16th, 2011 by senoritamurphy Edit |

We were all very lucky because we had a visit today from Rosa Prieto. Rosa is the Cultural Atache from the Spanish Embassy. Her job is to help students, schools and communities who are learning Spanish in anyway that she can. She definitely helped us all today. She visited our classes, went on a tour of the school, and spoke to us all at assembly. Here are some pictures of Rosa entertaining the Prep and 1's with stories and puppets. We look forward to many more visits from Rosa and we all promised to keep practicing our Spanish to let her hear all we learned for next time.

What if?

Posted on May 17, 2011 | Leave a comment

What if? This question was posed frequently at the recent Innovations Showcase. What if.....?

- Innovations Showcase participants could be shown what a connected classroom looks, feels and sounds like, using videoconferencing to raise cultural awareness.
- cultural understanding and awareness can be increased in real time with students who come from other cultures/countries/schools.
- students could text chat one on one and share conversations, in real time, with each other from other countries.

ABOUT ME

G'day! I am a secondary teacher in a small rural prep to year 12 school in Australia. I teach Information Technology and Accounting and am passionate about learning, immersing technology in the classroom, rural education and global education.

Gluten Free Wheat Free Show

Posted by leaemi in Uncategorized - Edit

Over Saturday the 20th and Sunday the 21st of October was the Gluten Free Wheat Free Show which was held in Melbourne, Australia. It was the second show. My family and I had a stand selling my mum's books. It was a great. At the show, there was a lot of food samples of yummy lollies and chocolate, breakfast cereals and other foods like that. It was a good way to find out about different companies that make different foods that are gluten free. It was surprising how many different companies there are that make gluten free food and how many we didn't know about. My family and I had heaps of fun over the two days and we all enjoyed ourselves a lot. Here is a pic:
